in the 1930 s and 1940 s the prevalent american view of china was that of a friendly democratic and increasingly christian state in many ways akin to the united states this view was fostered by a wide range of literary political and business leaders including pearl s buck franklin d roosevelt wendell willkie joseph stillwell claire chennault and most notably the powerful publisher of life and time henry r luce this book shows how the notion of the chinese as aspiring americans helped shape american opinions and policies toward asia for almost twenty years this notion derived less from the reality of chinese historical or cultural similarities than from a projection of american values and culture in the american view fueled by various political economic and religious interests china was less a geographical entity than a symbol of american hopes and fears one of the more important consequences was the idealization of china and the demonization of japan
